Paragraph 3: My complaint is against the Brooke Army Medical Center which is located in the city of San Antonio Texas thus falling under the United States District Court Western District of Texas San Antonio Division.

Paragraph 4: While being treated in the Brooke Army Medical Center for a brain clot, many medical staff including trainees stuck needles into my arm to draw blood. I was negligently stuck with needles in my arm too many painful times, sometimes more than six times a day. I told the staff of the discomfort I was experiencing, but they told me it was normal to feel this pain. After being released from the hospital, my right arm had a large bump appear. I went to the TMC and ER, they both told me to simply put ice on it, and it will go away soon, that everything would be fine. After a couple of days my arm got swollen and became extremely painful. In short, I was forced to undergo surgery because my veins in that arm had broken to multiple blood draws that were done carelessly and with no regard towards my well-being. I under a painful surgery that left my arm scared with muscle tissue missing. Had I not gotten this surgery I would had lost my arm. It was all the result of Medical Malpractice.

Relief Requested

I want the United States District Court, Western District of Texas, San Antonio Division, to hear my case and grant me monetary compensation for the damages to my right limb. I am asking that Brooke Army Medical Center to assume responsibility of my right arm. I want the following factors to be taken into consideration when considering any monetary settlement for negligence in my right arm;

-Limited Mobility

-Constant Pain

-Lack of strength

-Extreme weakness

-Disfiguration
